Applicant's amendment filed 8/22/05 does not comply with 37 CFR 1.121. The amended claims appear to be marked up to show changes relative to the after-final amendment filed 5/25/05. However, the amendment filed 5/25/05 was not entered. Any newly filed amendment to the claims should be marked up to show changes relative to the last entered set of claims, i.e. the claims as amended on 1/3/05. Note that this includes the use of the appropriate claim status identifiers. For example, claim 1 of the amendment filed 8/22/05 was identified as "Previously Presented", but should have been identified as "Amended" with apropriate marking to show differences from the currently pending version of claim 1 (i.e. claim 1 as amended on 1/3/05). Also, in the amendment filed 8/22/05, claim 37 was identified as "Allowed". This is not a recognized status identifier. If no amendment was made to claim 37, then it should have been identified as "Previously Presented". See 37 CFR 1.121.
